DETAILED ACTION

This office action is in response to the Appeal Brief filed July 30, 2008. Applicant's response was persuasive regarding claim 74. Thus finality has been withdrawn for the limited purpose of incorporate the novel subject matter into the independent claims.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Don Bolson on October 24, 2008.

The application has been amended as follows:

CLAIMS

In claim 59, Line 8 after "thereof" and insert - -with said gaps having upper sides that are parallel to the planar extent of the substrate - -.

In claim 67, line 6 after "layer" insert - -having a portion extending below the height of the adjacent air gaps--; and in Line 10 after "material" and insert - -with said gaps having upper sides that are parallel to the substrate - -.

In claim 68, Line 4 after "gaps" and insert - - having upper sides that are parallel to the substrate - -.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 59-74 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: upon further review of Avanzino (U.S. 5,776,834) and applicant's remarks regarding claim 74 in his Appeal Brief, the prior art does not disclose or make obvious a means for providing air gaps that have upper sides that are parallel to its substrate whereby the gaps are covered with overcoat layer that has a portion that extends below the height of the air gaps including all the limitations of the independent claim.

In contrast the prior art in Dawson (U.S. 5,783,864) discloses use of patterned layers with discrete layers and adjacent air gaps that have upper sides planar to a substrate along with an overcoat layer on the conductive pattern and air gap.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
